

Australian
National University

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN TEACHING ASIA

- > Would you like to be at the forefront of delivering 'Asia and Australia's Engagement with Asia' to your students?
- > The Graduate Certificate in Teaching Asia has been specially designed for you.

School of Culture, History
& Language
ANU College of Asia & the Pacific

The implementation of 'Asia and Australia's engagement with Asia' as a cross-curriculum priority in the National Curriculum means it is now important for teachers to embed Asian literacy across a number of learning areas.

Whether you teach primary or secondary students, this program has been specifically designed to develop your skills in Asian literacy and enhance your knowledge and teaching of Asia in the classroom.

The program is taught via online and videoconference teaching and learning facilities. The workload is flexible and it is delivered outside school hours so you are able to enrol, even if you teach full-time.

You can enrol to begin the program in either Semester 1 (February) or Semester 2 (July). The program consists four subjects:

Societies in Asia [Semester 1]
Language in Asia [Semester 1]
Asia and the World [Semester 2]
Teaching Asia [Semester 2]

Teaching methodology will be taught through the 'Teaching Asia' course, with the remaining three courses providing greater knowledge and understanding of Asia.

For information, go to:
<http://engageasia.anu.edu.au/teachers.php>